MOTH & SLOTH: BFF GAME

A fun game to play with two or more friends.

Get ready:

- Cut out the strips of unfinished sentences that are at the end of this page or make up your own unfinished sentences.
- Fold up the strips and put them in a bag.

Play:

- The first player reaches into the bag and reads the unfinished sentence out loud.
- All players make a list of 3 different ways to finish the sentence. Sometimes it's hard to think of three answers and that's okay. Just write PASS if you get stuck.
- The player who has read the question begins. That player reads their list out loud. If other players have the same answer they cross it out and so does the reader.
- Second person reads his list skipping PASS and any crossouts. If other players have the same answer they cross it out and so does the reader.
- Keep going until everyone has read their list.
- The winner is the person with the most answers still on their list.
- If there is a tie, both win!

LET'S DO A PUPPET SHOW!

Putting on a puppet show is so much fun!

When you do a puppet show you get to work with your friends and make new friends. You get to laugh and applaud. You get to be kind about sharing the spotlight and to be empathetic about how it feels to be in the spotlight. You get to cooperate with everyone doing the show and maybe even to be the person who says “All quiet on the set please”.

Every puppet show needs puppets!

Below are some pictures of the characters ready for you to use. Ask a grown-up to print the pictures.

- Cut out the pictures.
- Paste them onto craft paper or a file folder.
- Glue something like a pencil or ice cream stick on the back to use as a handle and you're ready to go.

Every puppet show needs a story!

You can use the audio book from our story as your puppet's voice and then move your puppet around in the same way you would if the puppet actually were speaking.

You could instead write your own story and then you could be the puppet's voice and make it move around as if it were actually speaking.
